

The Little Falls Public Library is pleased to announce a presentation at the Little Falls Public Library on Saturday June 4th, to serve as an introduction for the upcoming Norman Rockwell exhibition at the Munson Williams Proctor Arts Institute in Utica from June 11th to September 18th, 2022. On Saturday the 4th at 12:30PM in the library's Community Room at 10 Waverly Pl, Little Falls, representatives will be providing a talk and multimedia presentation to preview the aforementioned MWPAl Rockwell show. This presentation, in conjunction with the Mohawk Valley Center for the Arts and the Munson William Proctor Arts Institute, will be free and open to the public in the library's handicap accessible community-room space.

The presentation at the library will introduce and preview the upcoming landmark exhibition Norman Rockwell at MWPAl, as organized by the Norman Rockwell Museum in Stockbridge, Massachusetts, featuring iconic images of American scenes painted by the most beloved artist and illustrator of the 20th Century. Norman Rockwell illustrated everyday moments in America, featuring diverse races and nationalities. His story-filled scenes depicted American life and the women and men behind the images, from presidents to postmen. The library presentation will be a taste of the rich spectrum of Rockwell's work that will be on display at the MWPAl's exhibit, which will include all 323 Saturday Evening Post covers he illustrated from 1916 to 1963, along with full-scale oil paintings, photographs and drawings. With their themes as relevant today as the days the works were first published, the presentation will whet appetites for the upcoming MWPAl show and a rediscovers of the history of the 20th Century. And while you're in the Little Falls Public Library, don't forget to check out the two Rockwell prints displayed in the library's Periodicals Room, adjacent to the Community Room where the presentation will take place!

For more information on this and other upcoming library events, you can visit the Little Falls Public Library's website at www.lflibrary.org, check out the library's Facebook homepage at <http://www.facebook.com/littlefallslibrary> or contact by telephone at 315-823-1542. For more information on the upcoming Norman Rockwell exhibition at 310 Genesee Street in Utica, you can visit the Munson Williams Proctor Arts Institute's website at <http://www.mwpai.org> or call the institute at 315-797-0000. The Little Falls Public Library appreciates these opportunities to share the arts, history and culture with the local community!